

IDS Bulletin

WORKING WITH THE GRAIN? RETHINKING AFRICAN GOVERNANCE

IDS BULLETIN 42.2

Edited by Richard C. Crook and
David Booth

At the heart of current policy thinking about Africa there is a significant knowledge gap concerning governance and development. This IDS Bulletin is concerned with what can be done about that, drawing on new findings from research consortium, the Africa Power and Politics Programme (APPP). The APPP is committed to discovering forms of governance that work better for development than those prescribed by the current 'good governance' orthodoxy. It aims to do so chiefly by examining the range of post-colonial experience in sub-Saharan Africa focusing especially on under-appreciated patterns of difference in institutions and outcomes. (table of contents overleaf) >>

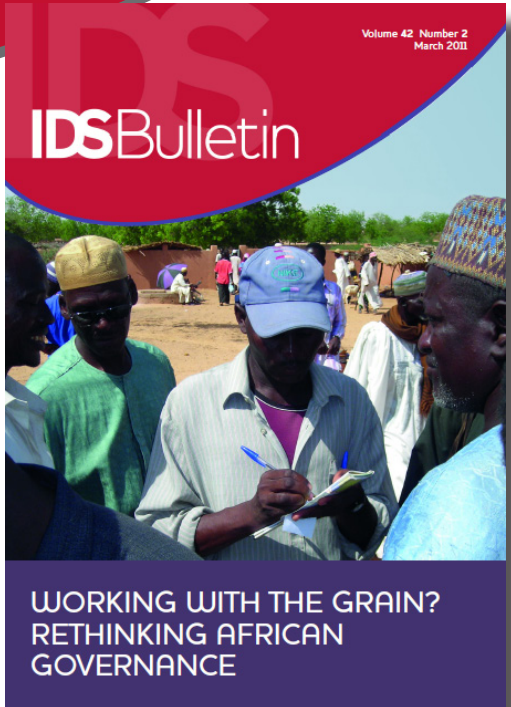

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction: Working with the Grain? The Africa Power and Politics Programme

David Booth

Towards a Theory of Local Governance and Public Goods Provision

David Booth

The Eight Modes of Local Governance in West Africa

Jean-Pierre Olivier de Sardan

Local Powers and the Co-delivery of Public Goods in Niger

Jean-Pierre Olivier de Sardan

Local Governance and Public Goods in Malawi

Diana Cammack

Makeni City Council and the Politics of Co-production in Post-conflict Sierra Leone

Anna Workman

Popular Concepts of Justice and Hybrid Judicial Institutions in Ghana

Richard C. Crook, Kojo P. Asante and Victor K. Brobbey

Rethinking the Relationship between Neo-patrimonialism and Economic Development in Africa

Tim Kelsall

Neo-patrimonialism, Institutions and Economic Growth: The Case of Malawi, 1964–2009

Diana Cammack and Tim Kelsall

Conclusion: Rethinking African Governance and Development

Richard C. Crook and David Booth

Details

Crook, R.C. and Booth, D. (Eds), Working with the Grain? Rethinking African Governance, IDS Bulletin 42.2, Brighton: IDS

Price: £14.95 per printed copy (order from: www.ids.ac.uk/go/bookshop)

ISSN: 0265 5012

Pages: 120

View full abstracts and to subscribe to the IDS Bulletin visit:

www.blackwellpublishing.com/IDSB

